Premium rate indices are calculated based on data from 51 jurisdictions, for rates in effect as of Jan. 1, 2012. National premium rate indices range from a low of $1.01 in North Dakota to a high of $3.01 in Alaska. The 2012 median value is $1.88, which is a drop of 8 percent from the $2.04 median in the 2010 study. One jurisdiction has an index rate in the $3.00-$3.49 range; 7 are in the $2.50-$2.99 range; 11 are in the $2.00-$2.49 range; 22 are in the $1.50-$1.99 range; and 10 have indices under $1.50.

An interested party may request an IMR when their request for medical services has been denied by the insurer. The insurer may also request an IMR for a denied service prior to mediation. An example of a 'Recommended with Conditions' could be that the claimant needs to complete smoking cessation prior to surgery. Numbers in the chart are unique.

Between July 1 and December 31, 2012, the Department notified each worker who reported a work place injury about the availability of the stay at work/return to work assistance program. Sixty-three workers responded by contacting the Department or their workers' compensation insurer. Twenty-eight workers made requests for assistance to return to work. Four workers returned to work via the assistance program and twenty-four continue to receive assistance.
